

The Caravan Gallery: Openshaw Pride of Place Project

Tuesday 19th November, 6pm – 8pm
(food served 6pm – 6.30pm)

Join us for an informal and inspiring evening hosted by Manchester Settlement and Jan and Chris who will show work from their extra{ordinary} Photographs of Britain by The Caravan Gallery exhibition and discuss previous Pride of Place Projects. Tell us what Openshaw means to you and find out how you could be part of a potential project about the area! All welcome!

The Caravan Gallery has for many years specialised in making exhibitions about people, place and identity. Using their own thought-provoking and sometimes hilarious photographs as a starting point, artists Jan Williams and Chris Teasdale create multimedia exhibitions which grow as local people add their own artwork, stories and artefacts connected to the area. At the same time they ask questions such as: What does your area mean to you? How could it be improved? What would you make a great souvenir? The star of the project is an interactive artwork - a large hand drawn map - to which people can add where they fell in love - or fell in the canal, their favourite pie shop, record personal memories and suggest ideas for the future.
